

Advice for SRE authorising agents on behalf of local Church Councils

An authorising agent is the person who, on behalf of your congregation's Church Council, is responsible for authorising an SRE teacher. This means they must be satisfied the person requesting authorisation has met the basic criteria for authorisation and understands what is required in undertaking the role of an SRE teacher. An authorising agent would be a Minister in placement or a member of the Church Council Executive from the SRE teachers sending congregation.

When a Church Council's authorising agent signs an SRE engagement form and an authorisation card (green card), the Church Council are authorising that person to represent your congregation and the Uniting Church in NSW Government Schools.

If an SRE teacher is also going to be teaching joint denominationally, you also need to be confident that they can effectively represent the other denominations that you and other local churches will be cross authorising them to teach.

A Simple Checklist for a Pre-Authorisation Conversation/Interview

To help simplify the process, here is a checklist of things to discuss with new or continuing Special Religious Education teachers prior to signing their SRE engagement form and subsequent authorisation card.

- They understand that they are representing their congregation and the Uniting Church, and if teaching as part of a joint program, the other denominations involved.
- They are living their Christian faith and have the desire to pass on that faith appropriately to children.
- They are able to manage a class of children on their own, or they will teach alongside a competent teacher until they are able to manage the class effectively alone.
- They have been given SRE curriculum materials that are authorised for SRE use and agree to use only this material and it's teaching advice in SRE teaching.
- They have a valid NSW Working With Children Check clearance number. WWC Clearance must be verified BEFORE a teacher can begin in schools.
- They have attended an SCTA endorsed Safe Church Awareness Workshop and have completed at least two units of the SRE teacher Basic Training Course.
- They know what support is available to them, who their coordinator is, and that they can keep informed about in-service training and any changes to procedure or guidelines via the website: www.childrensministry.org.au/sre

It is important to find time for this conversation with an incoming SRE teacher so they are fully aware of the support they have and what is required of them.

Another useful information source for people interested in teaching SRE is the Uniting Church NSW 'Partnering for SRE' Guide. As an authorising agent it might also be helpful to read through this booklet to get an idea of the background and contexts of SRE.
